AWFUL FLOOD SWEEPED VALLEY

And Carried Hundreds to Death and Injury.

DAM OF BAYLESS PULP MILL

Broke and Threw Huge Wall of Water on Unsuspecting Little Town.

A SCENE OF DEATH AND RUIN

Austin, Pa., Sept. 30.—Five hundred million gallons of water swept over the town of Austin this afternoon, when the great dam of the Bayless Pulp and Paper Company went out, and of Austin's 3,200 population at least 500 were drowned, while untold numbers were maimed. Austin lay in a valley between the hills, with the dam a mile and a half away.

The structure, built two years ago to conserve the water during droughts, was five hundred and thirty feet long, forty-nine feet high, and the walls were thirty-two feet thick at the base.

The paper pulp mill was just under it, and thousands of logs, caught up by the flood, battered to pieces everything in the wake of the torrent.

Many had gone to the dam to see, for the first time, the water running over the top, and were horrified to see a portion of the wall give way, and then more so, when the great volume of water rushed toward the town.

From the hill they could see the people running toward the heights, swept up in water and carried away. A wall of water forty feet high swept down the valley with a roar that was deafening.

The flood raced through the city, sweeping away all the principal buildings and crushing the houses like egg shells.

The flood, which passed soon, among other devastations, wrecked gas pipes, and the fluid poured out. Soon heaps of debris and the remaining buildings in the path of the flames took fire, and many bodies were incinerated.

The business portion of town, in line of the waters, had practically nothing left.

The survivors are in a frenzy. The water passed quickly. Darkness followed, lit up by the burning houses. The fire burned itself out. Many bodies lie in the track of the flood. Chunks of concrete from the dam itself, built two years ago and never filled till to-day, were carried far down the valley.

A thousand buildings, it is estimated, were destroyed, and the loss of life somewhere from 500 to 700.

Town An Eternal Ruin.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 1.—Estimates of the loss of life in the flood that overwhelmed the town of Austin yesterday, diminished to-day when an army of volunteer rescuers worked their way into the masses of wreckage. In the opinion of many on the ground the number of deaths will not reach 150, while the less hopeful place the list of fatalities at 300.

The property loss will exceed $6,000,000 and it is the general opinion that the town never will be rebuilt. Two at least of the large plants will never be reconstructed and a majority of the business men have been ruined.

Rides on Bicycle and Saves Many Lives.

Costello, Pa., Oct. 1.—While the town of Costello was almost destroyed by the flood, its death list is only two. The victims are Edward W. Earle and a Mrs. Hughes. That the fatalities are not proportionately as large as those in Austin is due to a dramatic and successful warning given of the impending disaster.

Edward Young, a workman in the Standard Lumber Mill in Austin, whose home is in Costello, heard the roar of the flood while it was still half a mile away, and his first thought, as he saw the wall of water, was of his wife and little ones, here, three miles from the mill. Coatless and hatless he jumped on his bicycle and made for Costello.

Down the three-mile valley he pedaled with the roar ever swelling behind him. He shouted a warning as he passed isolated houses, whose occupants fled to the hilltops. Ahead of the flood he dashed into Costello, shouting his message, and Costello, almost to a man, fled.

Young gained his home, burst into the house, called his wife, and between them they carried their children to safety.

INSURGENT REPUBLICAN SNUBS THE PRESIDENT

Fort Dodge, Iowa, Sept. 28.—Senator B. Cummins, of Iowa, today gave President Taft what the "Four Hundred" would call a snub direct, when he flatly declined to ride on the Presidential train, while the President was making his short campaign through the State. Governor Carroll had given Cummins a specific invitation to ride with the President.

Governor Carroll, with his staff, and Senator Kenyon and half a dozen other insurgent Republicans, boarded the President's special train when it entered the State at Fort Dodge, but Cummins left word that he would not ride on the President's train through the State, and would not act on the reception committee when the President reached Des Moines.

Takes a Bite of His Son.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 29.—For biting a large piece out of the lip of his son, Ples Clay, Thomas Clay, negro, is being sought by the police.

A warrant was issued yesterday for the father's arrest by Police Judge J. W. Johnson. The son bit profusely from the wound. Thomas Clay is charged with mayhem.

CHILDREN ASK JUDGE TO HAVE FATHER HUNG

Little Ones Want Parent Electrocuted For Murder of Their Mother.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30.—Judge Latah, of the Criminal Court in Kansas City, received a letter today from three children in Chicago, asking that their father, John Buhrfin, either be hanged or electrocuted. The letter follows:

"Kind Friend, Mr. Latah, of Criminal Court: My name is George Buhrfin and I am 10 years old. I never seen my father but one time I remember, and that was when he had my mother's tongue hanging out against the wall. Father doing told me to write you and put that man away for all time and eternity, for my mother is dying in bed.

"Doctor Freedman said she could not live. This last shock has killed my mother. He has already married four women and had children with them all. Please have him hung or electrocuted, so all our troubles will end. Your loving friends,

"GEORGE, ANGELINE AND ARTHUR BUHRFIN.

"P. S.—My mother is dying in bed. Kindly please notify me as to the position of my father, the Dutch dog there, your prisoner. Respectfully yours."

A second letter written in scrawling children's style is addressed to the Judge, and also has a line or two for the jury, asking them to bang their father for the murder of their mother.

LOUISVILLE MURDERER EXECUTED AT EDDYVILLE

Eddyville, Ky., Sept. 28.—Matthew Kelley, a negro, was legally electrocuted within the State prison here this morning for the murder, on May 20, 1910, of Pearl Evans and Clara Hamilton, also negroes, in Louisville. Kelley had previously served seven years in the Frankfort prison for the murder of his wife, on a life sentence, but was pardoned by Gov. Willson in 1909.

The execution took place a few moments after 4:45 o'clock, and was witnessed by twenty-five persons. Kelley was pronounced dead ten seconds after the shock was applied.

"MORE FAIR PLAY" WANTS TO KNOW

Some Few Things About
Mr. C. E. Woods.

SPICY REPLY TO REPUBLICAN

In Which the Writer Seeks to Further Defend Candidate McCreary.

STRONG POINTS PLAINLY PUT

Editors Hartford Herald, Dear Sirs:—The Hartford Republican in its issue of September 29 considers it very strange that I should take such an interest in the Kentucky campaign when I have no vote in the State. Now I like everybody connected with the Republican, and my only intention in writing the article published in your paper last week was to undo any harm that Clarence E. Woods might do Senator McCreary, and not for any political reasons.

Senator McCreary is my personal friend. I have known him well, and I would be a poor specimen of manhood if I did not stand up for my friends when they are unjustly attacked by irresponsible fanatics. I also like Judge O'Rear, for I consider him a noble, upright man who unfortunately has fallen into questionable company.

It is too true that I have no vote in Kentucky, for my business keeps me on the road all the time, but to make up for this, I am doing my utmost to get a few votes for my friend Senator McCreary, although I don't think he will need them.

The Republican article contains a column and a half of "remarkable tribute from a christian minister." Now let us look into this "remarkable tribute." It has been the writer's privilege to meet Rev. E. B. Barnes, pastor of the Christian Church, Richmond, Ky., and a finer christian gentleman I never knew. Until July 1, 1910, he was a perfect stranger to Richmond and to Mr. Woods. On that date he was called to Richmond from Grand Rapids, Michigan, and took charge of the Christian Church there. Now as this was long after Mr. Woods was Mayor of Richmond, and long after Mr. Woods took any political part in the city's councils, how in the world does Rev. Barnes know what Brother Woods did, or did not do, during the time Mr. Woods was Mayor, and accomplished so many wonderful things? Rev. Barnes was hundreds of miles away in another State. Is not the folly of this tribute apparent? There is only one deduction. Mr. Woods told Rev. Barnes how wonderful he was, and was believed, for everybody knows that personal modesty is not one of Mr. Woods' characteristics.

In conclusion, if Rev. Barnes really believes that Mr. Woods is such a wonderful specimen of noble manhood—and I hope he is, for I have no personal animosity toward him—then why does he keep making apologies for the actions of Mr. Woods all through his tribute?

MORE FAIR PLAY.

A BETTER TIME COMING WHEN WE GET GOOD ROADS

The question of good roads in Kentucky has never before received the attention that is being given it at present, and the result will be that the roads all over the Commonwealth must be improved. The time is coming, and is not far off, when the State and the nation will take a hand in the construction of the public thoroughfares. The era of a better system of roads is coming and when it arrives in its fullness, it will be accompanied by a reign of prosperity never before known.—[Bardwell News.

OLD APPLE TREE IS A CONTINUOUS PERFORMER

Whitesburg, Ky., Oct. 2.—On the farm of Burdine Webb, at Sergeant, can be seen an apple tree planted nearly seventy years ago by Jason Webb, father of the present owner, and for the past sixty years it has been a steady and continuous bearer. This season, when thousands of young, vigorous trees failed to bear fruit, this old tree was laden with a bountiful crop of the finest fruit.

THE "I" SEEMS TO HAVE IT, SURE

In All the Utterances of Judge O'Rear.

UNIQUE PROMINENCE IS GIVEN

To What "I" Would Do if Put
In Charge of State Affairs.

THE BIG "I" AND LITTLE "YOU"

According to the accounts published, Judge O'Rear closed his campaign in the Ninth Congressional District by saying:

"I" propose to make it impossible for Kentucky to be dominated by a political machine.

"I" promise to make corruption obsolete.

"I" propose to reform the prisons.

"I" propose to enlarge and make more useful the public school system.

"I" propose to put the judiciary on a non-partisan basis.

"I" propose to enlarge the power of the people by destroying the infamous lobby.

"I" propose to clean the politics of Kentucky and make the State more peaceful, prosperous and happy.

"The man who accomplishes these things will be a public benefactor to his people. I have not appealed to party feeling, but I appeal to you as Kentuckians, who have the welfare of the State at heart as well as myself.

"What has been accomplished in the way of reform in other States can be accomplished in Kentucky, and I believe that the time has come for it to be accomplished. What's the matter with Kentucky? What difference does it make who is President, if the infamous lobby rules in Kentucky? But it will not always rule, and with the co-operation of the good people of the State, I feel that a brighter era is at hand."

A modest youth, this Judge of the Court of Appeals!

"I" propose to make corruption obsolete. We wonder if "I" would mind telling exactly how "I" is going to do this.

"I" propose to make it impossible for Kentucky to be dominated by political machines. When did "I" get such power; when, in fact, did "I" develop such an aversion to a political machine?

"I" denominated Senator Bradley the "greatest living Kentuckian, upon whose title there is no stain." But "I" knows that Senator Bradley was elected Senator as the result of the work of a corrupt lobby.

In the platform adopted by the convention which Judge O'Rear dominated there is a plank denouncing the lobby for influencing legislation, but not a word denouncing the lobby for controlling the election of Senators.

Judge O'Rear proposes to put the judiciary on a non-partisan basis. He, a Judge of the Court of Appeals, who threw the weight of his influence to encourage night riding, now an active candidate for Governor, drawing from the State a salary for duties which he does not perform, proposes to put the judiciary on a non-partisan basis! Would it not be well for him to set an example of the performance of duty that would increase the respect for the judiciary instead of an example that brings the judiciary into popular contempt before he makes boasts about what he proposes to do?

He proposes "to enlarge the power of the people by destroying the infamous lobby." Again we are tempted to ask this modest man, How?

Finally, with the same supreme modesty, he announces:

"I" propose to clean the politics of Kentucky and make the State more peaceful, prosperous and happy."

How big an "I" does this modern Caesar use! It is not his party for which he claims such power; no credit does he give to his associates on the State ticket for what he proposes to do. The legislature is a negligible quantity, according to this timid youth. Lonesome has he seemed at all of his speakings; not welcomed by those who have taken an active part in politics, not accorded ovations upon his arrival by the people who "I" propose to make peaceful, prosperous and happy. Other leaders there are none, according to his view.

No national questions must be raised in this campaign, because "I" proposes to do so and so, and the people's attention is not to be diverted from "I" to such men as Taft, LaFollette, Bradley, or any of those who might participate in the canvass where national questions are discussed. Quite respectable gentleman, of mediocre ability, were chosen by "I" to be his associates, so that when "I" accomplish all of the marvelous things which "I" propose, "I" alone will get the credit. We wonder why "I" doesn't propose to make all men honest, to abolish poverty, to banish illness, to eliminate from human action all low motives. Surely "I" can do this!

A short while since one of the leading Republicans of Kentucky, a public-spirited citizen, a gallant federal soldier, an upright Judge, who stands high among the lawyers of the country, said to us that he found it most difficult, he feared almost impossible, for him to bring himself to vote for a man for Governor who wrote "I" with a capital a foot high and spelled "God" with a small "g." We thought then that criticism of Judge O'Rear was unjust. After reading his speech at Cynthiana, it seems to us just.—[Lexington Herald.

BIG STORE AT MACEO DESTROYED BY FIRE

Also Grocery Store of Wm. Petrie
and Post-Office Greatly Damaged.

The large general store of the Maceo Mercantile Company at Maceo, Ky., was burned to the ground by an early morning fire Saturday morning, the flames causing a $25,000 loss. The entire town of Maceo was threatened with destruction and but for the gallant work of the volunteer bucket brigade, the destruction would have been thousands of more dollars worth of property.

Besides the total destruction of the store, the small grocery store of William Petrie, in which he keeps the post-office, was greatly damaged and several times the spectators believed the building to be doomed. The flames lapped across the street, burning the entire front out of the building, and a large force of men and boys carried the contents of the building out of the rear door to a place of safety.

The store is owned by a stock company, and the company was capitalized at $20,000, $5,000 of the stock being held by J. Nat Alsop, $5,000 by Murray Hathaway, $5,000 by William Hardin, and $5,000 being held by several farmers of the Maceo district.

After the fire, although the books and papers of the company had not been gotten out of the debris, Mr. Hardin, who was manager of the store, stated that the concern carried about $10,000 insurance on the building and stock. There was no insurance carried by Petrie and his loss amounted to about $3,000.

Jack Johnson to Retire.

London, Sept. 28.—Following the announcement that the projected fight between himself and Wells, the English champion, would not be allowed, Jack Johnson said: "After finishing my contracts in England, I will never put on gloves in public again. ITALY AND TURKEY ARE IN FIERCE WAR

Fighting Over Some Disputed Possessions.

TURKEY REFUSED TO YIELD

Italy's Navy Outclasses Turkey—Matter Reversed as to Land Forces.

STRENGTH OF THE COUNTRIES

Italy declared war on Turkey Thursday. This action followed the refusal of Turkey to accede to the demands of Italy. The declaration of hostilities followed the extended consideration by the Italian cabinet of the latest Turkish reply. Turkey absolutely denied the contention of Italy that Italy's interest in Tripoli had been threatened and expressed the hope that Italy would desist from its threat of force. The reply, however, failed to recognize Italy's right to assume control of the territory in dispute.

The declaration of war caused great surprise in official circles at Washington.

What It's All About.
Italy demands that Turkey, which for three hundred years has dominated Tripoli, shall surrender all of her rights to Italy, so that it can develop the colony.

Tripoli is very fertile on the coast, a desert in the interior, but capable of great development.

Lloyds is charging 40 per cent. premium for insurance against war.

Something About Countries.

Italy's standing army in 1910-11 numbered approximately 225,000 men and 14,000 officers, but a far greater number could be put in the field in case of necessity. The Italian navy consists in vessels commissioned, built or building, of 15 battleships, 9 armored cruisers, 17 unarmored cruisers and gun vessels, 36 destroyers, an equal number of first-class torpedo boats and 22 submarines. In the naval force there are about 31,000 men.

Seamen for the fleet are recruited by conscription and all men following the seafaring life, of 20 years of age, must serve at sea for 18 months or more. The navy is administered by the Minister of Marine, who is responsible to Parliament, and there are three naval districts, each administered by a flag officer. As a whole the Italian navy is generally ranked fifth among nations.

Naval lists show that Turkey has a fighting strength of nine coast defense ironclads, five protected cruisers, six torpedo vessels, one gunboat, twenty-one torpedo destroyers, twenty-seven torpedo boats and two submarines. As compared with the greater nations, this array is a negligible quantity. There are 929 officers, 30,000 sailors and 9,000 marines. English and American officers play an important part in Turkish naval affairs.

The Ottoman army, as a result of the revolution which resulted in victory for the young Turks, is now in process of reorganization, but a military council has been called into existence and a great deal of modern equipment has been purchased.

The empire is divided into seven army corps districts and there are two independent divisions at Medina and Tripoli respectively. The total fighting strength is close to 1,000,000 men, and by the existing recruiting laws all Mussulmans are liable to military service. Christians and certain sects have paid the exemption tax. The nomad Arabs, although liable to service by law, furnish few or no recruits, and many Kurds evade service. Much the best of the army is in European Turkey.

Just Thunder.

That is nothing but a gust of Republican thunder that C. E. Woods is saying about Senator J. B. McCreary and not one flash of political lightning about it.

BUG WAS FOUND ALIVE IN THE SOLID ROCK

Insect Entombed in Quartz Blast- ed Out 200 Feet Below the Surface.

Entomologists here have found something that has stumped them, and they are likely to call on their brethren elsewhere to help them out. It is a bug that has been taken from an apparently solid piece of rock, blasted out more than 200 feet below the surface.

The find was made by W. J. Wostenholme, general manager of the Shamrock Gold Mining and Milling Company at Marysville, recently. He was going over the dump looking at the broken ore that had come up from the mine in order to pick out some specimens he wanted to use. He broke open what appeared to be a solid piece of rock, first cracking it with a hammer. When he separated it he found in a little cavity a bug about a quarter of an inch long. It was not very lively, but it was alive. He examined the rock to see if there was any fissure that could let in air to the insect, but there was no evidence of any.

Mr. Wostenholme was particularly interested, because about a year ago George F. Dalton, the President of the company, while hunting specimens, came across a similar bug in a similar little hole in what appeared to be solid rock. This had been taken from hard quartzite that had been blasted out 100 feet below the surface. Mr. Dalton consulted some experts in such things, but they could not tell him what he had found. As a matter of curiosity he put the bug in a sealed bottle, and it lived for months without any visible means of subsistence.

The entomologists here are very much interested in this new find, and it is expected that a full description of the bug will be sent to various authorities on the subject in the hope that some one of them may be able to tell what it is and something of the phenomena surrounding its life under such remarkable conditions.—[Salt Lake Cor. Petersburg, Ind., Sept. 30.—While standing on the court house steps near the noon hour talking to some parties, a stranger approached Sheriff Marlon Nance and said: "Sheriff, here is a mittimus from Squire Daniel Davis, of Pikeville, to commit Bearer Taylor to the county jail." Sheriff Nance took the paper, looked it over and said: "Where is the prisoner?"

"I'm the prisoner," replied the stranger, who was taken to jail and locked in a cell. Taylor is a young man living at Pikeville, Marlon township, 22 years old, and had been fined $12 on a charge of provoke. He had refused to allow his father or friends to either pay or stay it for him. He walked here from Pikeville, a distance of 21 miles, unaccompanied.

TYRANNY OF TURKISH HUSBANDS OVER WIVES

Revealed By Countess Langlade, Who Was an Inmate of Sultan's Harem.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—A French Countess, who lived in the Turkish Sultan's harem, has come to Chicago to enjoy her freedom.

Countess Fanny De Langlade, daughter of a Pasha—an Englishman serving the Turkish Government—widow of a French Count and mother of a Viscount and Vicomtesse, was found to-day at 1217 West Adams street.

She told of a visit to the Sultan's harem, saying she was attracted to the place first by the musical instruments and later by wives of the ruler. "It was in this way that I took up my residence in the harem," she said. "I saw and heard everything going on and was treated with great deference, because the Sultan knew I had political influence with other Powers."

"I was allowed every freedom of the harem, but could not go outside for a year because of my contract. When I went riding or driving in the great forests, I could see two eyes watching me, no matter which way I turned, and there was always a wall to block my escape."

"I found out how the Turkish husband lives and acts and what little regard he has for a woman. The women do not pine for things intellectual, and it makes me smile when I see articles on how eager they are to learn. They strive to please the Sultan and make themselves beautiful by growing fat. Funny, but they really do look beautiful when they are fat. They are the handsomest women in the world and they love to flirt with the eyes and with their fans."

"A Turk looks on his wife as an article without a soul. He would not be seen in public with her."

"The only ceremony necessary for a Turk to divorce his wife is to say three times: 'I divorce you.'"

"The Turk is the incarnation of jealousy and narrowness. His wife is treated as if she were a child and is bought and sold."

VALUE OF THE HANDS.—A DEFINITE ESTIMATE

Twenty thousand dollars for the boy who lost both hands—the award just sustained by the New Jersey Courts—is little enough.

It is about all that most persons with two hands can do to earn a living at manual labor in these days of high rents and high prices. There are few trades open to a man handicapped by the loss of one hand. For him who is without hands there is forever no opportunity, no outlook.

More than this, the handless man must all his life have attendance. He cannot dress himself. He cannot feed himself. The most intricate artificial hands can never perform a tenth of the services rendered by nature's excellent implements. He is cut off, too, from participation in most forms of pleasurable and beneficial physical exercises and enjoyments.

The decision is especially noteworthy as a new mark in the apparently increasing appreciation that courts and juries all over the country are showing as to the handicap of physical disability.—[New York World.]

CRUELLY CRUCIFIED BY WILD FANATICS

Who Impale Babes On Lances and Otherwise Maltreat the Natives.

Mexico City, Sept. 29.—From the far away State of Chiapas comes the report of a man having suffered the fate of the malefactors of antiquity at the hands of fanatical Indians, who are terrorizing a vast district in that part of Mexico.

Wencesko Franco, a resident of Acala, a small town in the Chiapas, was crucified by the rebellious Chamula Indians when they sacked that place, according to telegrams received by El Imparcial from Tuxtla Gutierrez, the State capital.

Franco's wife and others, who brought the story of the crucifixion to Tuxtla Gutierrez, also told tales of horrible barbarities committed by the half-savage hordes in Chiapas. Women and children have suffered most, the savages making gruesome sport of pitching the babies high in the air and catching them on their lances.

A leader of one of the fanatical mobs was a priest, who himself was killed.

Franco's wife was stabbed seven times and left for dead.

Semi-officially it is stated a military governor, probably General Jose de la Luz Blanco, of revolutionary fame, will be sent to Chiapas to restore order.

Another uprising reported is led by a man called "Nayarit" in the territory of Tepic.

Emiliano Zapata and Andres Amazan, the rebels who have been terrorizing the southern part of Morelos and a part of Puebla, have sent a letter to General Huerta, in Chihuahua, asking on what terms their surrender will be accepted.

RED CROSS SEALS—NEW DESIGNS TO BE USED

"Not only will the seal of the Red Cross Christmas Seals be continued this year in Kentucky, but it will be carried on along broader lines than ever before," says Mr. Eugene Kerner, Secretary of the Kentucky Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

It is very important, however, that every one bear in mind that the Post-Office Department will not carry mail having the Seals or any other non-postage stamps on the face of the letters. The Seals should be placed on the back of letters and packages.

Agents will soon be appointed in every city, town and village in Kentucky and the proceeds of the sale in our State will go largely to support the Free Traveling Health Car which is now traveling through our State and instructing thousands of our people as to the dangers of tuberculosis and other infectious diseases.

The Cost of Militarism in United States.

A STUPENDOUS WAR ACCOUNT

Steadily Mounting Higher Each Year—Almost Staggers Belief.

BIG NATIONAL PER-CAPITA TAX

Perhaps no other feature of the Republican administration in Kentucky during the past four years has stood out in more bold relief than the useless and expensive military campaign conducted by Commander-in-Chief Augustus E. Willson, who, following the example of all Republican leaders, appears to delight in displays of this character, without in the least reckoning the cost to the people, or taking into account the far-reaching effect for evil it is calculated to have on the fundamental principles of civil government. In the October number of the Technical World Magazine, there appears a timely article of national scope on the stupendous cost of militarism, under the heading of "Military Mania" which is worthy of the careful consideration of every right thinking citizen not only of Kentucky but the country at large. It follows:

For the eight years preceding the war with Spain our average annual expenditure for the army was less than $24,000,000, for the eight years following the war the annual average leaped to more than $83,000,000; and now for the current year the army appropriation is $94,440,567. The navy has done even better. For the eight years preceding the Spanish war the average annual expenditure was a little more than $27,500,000; for the next eight years it averaged $102,400,000, and this year the navy gets $131,350,854. Adding the navy and army appropriations gives the sum of $226,791,421, which is rather a neat price to pay for imitating the antics of those ghost dancers on the other side of the Atlantic. But that isn't all by any means. To this sum must be added the current appropriation for the military academy, $1,856,249; the appropriation for forts and fortifications, $5,617,000; and the pension appropriation of $155,758,000, making a grand total of $390,022,870 as the cost of militarism for one year, or at the rate of $1,068,553 a day for every day in the year.

This enormous sum is paid out of the United States Treasury, a beneficent institution which seems too remote and intangible to concern the average man. But when you hear in mind, as you should, that even the United States Treasury cannot pay out what it does not take in, and that its insatiable maw is fed, but never filled, from

THE FAVORITE LAXATIVE

One at Night Makes the Next Day
Bright; No Charge if It Doesn't.

Because of their extremely gentle and effective action, Rexall Orderlies have become the most popular Remedy for Constipation.

We are so positive that Rexall Orderlies will do all that is claimed for them that we positively guarantee to hand back the money you paid us for them upon your mere request, if you are not entirely satisfied.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, are very pleasant to the taste, do not gripe, cause nausea, or any other annoyance usually experienced when ordinary cathartics are used.

Rexall Orderlies have a positive regulative effect upon the bowels and tend to provide permanent relief from constipation and the myriad of associate ailments. Besides, they help to overcome the necessity of the constant use of laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition.

We honestly believe there is no similar medicine so good as Rexall Orderlies, especially for children, aged, or delicate people. They are prepared in convenient tablet form in three sizes of packages. Prices, 10c, 25c and 50c. Why not try them at our risk on our guarantee?

Remember, Rexall Remedies can be obtained in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—James H. Williams, 214 Main street, Hartford, Ky.

your pocket and mine and from every one else's, the matter assumes quite a different aspect. The reliability of your contribution is in no wise affected by your inability to perceive when you pay for it. Every mouthful you eat, every thread you wear, every need of your life, bears its tax which goes to make up the vast aggregate of government expenditures.

Three hundred and ninety million dollars is $4.24 per capita for the inhabitants of our "possession." But this counts in the women and children, the idle and the incapacitated. Getting down to an average for heads of families would multiply this per capita tax by five, or $21.20 as the sum that each head of a family, speaking in averages, must contribute out of his earnings, whether he wants to or not, toward the support of the army and the frills that go with it this year. Next year the forced contributions will be larger; for the year after that still larger; for the succeeding year, larger yet, for once the military craze gets started there is no limit to its extravagance.

Many men consider themselves lucky when they are able to squander $21 on one suit of clothes. Lots of them do not get that much for a week's work. Few can lose that much even in a poker game, without winning, inwardly if not outwardly. Twenty-one dollars would provide porterhouse steak for two persons for forty-two meals, or it would pay the hired girl's wages for a month, or it might pay the premium on $1,000 life insurance for a year. Twenty-one dollars in short is a most useful sum of money. When it is multiplied by 18,400,000, the number of families here assumed, its potentialities are almost incomprehensible.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Asking the Impossible.
"Have you any alarm clocks?" inquired the customer.

"Yes, ma'am," said the man behind the counter. "About what price do you wish to pay for one?"
"The price is no object, if I can get the kind I am after. What I want is one that will rouse the hired girl without waking the whole family."

"I don't know of any such alarm clock as that, ma'am," said the man. "We keep just the ordinary kind—the kind that will wake the whole family without disturbing the hired girl."

REMOVING THE COUNTY UNIT

From Discussions of Political Matters.

O'REAR WANTS IT ABOLISHED

Both Parties Have Declared
for It—The Democrats
the Strongest.

ANSWER JUDGE'S QUESTIONS

When Judge O'Rear began his campaign he was going to confine his discussion to the "County Unit." That was to be the leading issue, with himself in the role of chief ligator of the people who were being destroyed by the whiskey trust. He assured his hearers that the Democratic party did not dare to take a stand on this question; that it was controlled by the saloon element, and that he alone could give the temperance relief they asked for. He wrote the decision extending the Cammack Law, and if he were elected Governor, he would enforce that section of the Constitution which gives to every precinct, town and county of the State the right to say whether intoxicating liquors should be sold within its borders.

As far as it went, this was an attractive program, and Judge O'Rear gained some strength from his advocacy of the "County Unit." As the Democrats had not yet adopted a platform, he was in position to misrepresent the attitude of the party on the "County Unit," and did not hesitate to do so. But when the Convention met to, and behold, they adopted a "County Unit" plank, stronger and more specific than the one contained in the Republican platform. It was put there at the personal request of Governor McCreary, who showed his courage and sincerity by taking all of the responsibility upon his own shoulders.

For a little while Judge O'Rear was dazed over the action of the Convention because it disarranged his plans. Then he found a new task in the charge that Governor McCreary did not mean what he said and that he would not openly declare himself for the "County Unit." Governor McCreary answered this challenge in the very first speech of his campaign at Bowling Green, and said unequivocally that he was for the "County Unit"; that he endorsed the plank in the Democratic platform declaring for it and that if elected Governor, would use every means in his power to secure a passage through the Legislature of a bill extending the "County Unit."

Judge O'Rear then wanted to know what Ed J. McDermott, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, would do about the "County Unit" bill, and Mr. McDermott promptly answered that as presiding officer of the Senate, he would be absolutely fair to all interests in the appointment of his committees, and would give the advocates of the "County Unit" a chance to vote on any measure offered by them, and when it came to a tie vote, he would obey the command of his party as expressed in the platform, and cast his vote for the "County Unit."

The result of this frank utterance on the part of the Democratic nominee has removed the "County Unit" question from the campaign. It is no longer an issue to divide the parties. Both the Republicans and the Democrats have given sacred pledges that they will pass a bill extending the "County Unit" and the voters of the State are confident that this will be done, no matter who wins.

Judge O'Rear is quite disconsolate because he had fully hoped to ride into office on the "County Unit" wave by dividing the Democracy. His accusations that the Democrats were not sincere did not have any effect, because Governor McCreary's long and honorable career testifies that he will keep his word.

THE CHEWING OF FOOD AN IMPORTANT MATTER

It might be well for those who adopt the one-meal-a-day system to become chewers at the same time. A chewer, according to dietetic experts, is one who chews all things so long as they have any taste left in them. Gladstone, it is recorded,

Are You a Woman?

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

used to take 32 bites to every mouthful of food. This would be considered dangerously rapid eating by the modern school of chewers. "I have tried chewing conscientiously," writes Mr. Eustace Miles. "A banana has cost 800 bites, a small mouthful of bread and cheese 240 bites, a greedy mouthful of hiccups (while I was walking on a Yorkshire moor) more than 1,000 bites. It still seemed to taste about as much as at first; but I knew that taste by then, so I swallowed."—London Chronicle.

A Discouraging Outlook.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Hartford women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail, make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of dropsy or Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. They attack kidney diseases by striking at the cause.

Can Hartford sufferers desire stronger proof than this woman's word?

Mrs. Francis Rutherford, Earlington, Ky., says: "For over three years I suffered from weak kidneys and dull pains through the small of my back. Whenever I did any work that required lifting, sharp, shooting twinges darted through my loins. My back ached at night and when I arose in the morning I was stiff and lame. I generally felt dull and languid and was also bothered by a feeling of nervousness. Headaches were common and I had dizzy spells, during which there was a blurring of my sight. The kidney secretions were also unnatural. Whenever I caught cold it settled on my kidneys and at such times my suffering was aggravated. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply and received relief in a short time after commencing their use. I continued taking them until I had finished the contents of two boxes, at which time I was completely cured."

Dents in the Republican journalistic campaign are letting out the political prune juice.

Just a week from to-morrow—
that big Democratic all-day rally in Hartford. Big speakers will be here and enough people to stock a county.

Senator Bradley says that those who make charges of bribery and corruption against him in connection with his election as Senator
should not be identified by any notice. But somehow the voters think differently.

Editor W. R. Hearst, just back from Europe, declares that he is for Champ Clark and that he will not himself be a candidate for the Presidency. So what's the use of holding a nominating convention
next year, anyhow?

Unredeemed pledges, both State
and national, have placed the Republican party in the attitude of distrust by the people. They promised to revise the tariff downward and didn't do it. They promised to give us an economical and efficient administration of State affairs, but the record shows different. It is such things as these that make the people, men of all parties, distrustful of the party that promises much and performs little.

The Hartford Republican says:
"The Democrats of Ohio county ought not to have nominated a candidate for Representative this year." Now isn't that just too bad! How else that would have been for the Court House Ring and the one or two other steam roller bosses of the g. o. p. in Ohio county
—just to let them go on and elect men without opposition. But the great voting public would not stand for anything like that.

Mr. M. T. Westerfield, Democratic nominee for Representative from Ohio county, is making a fine canvass,
and aims to get among the voters of all the precincts, but his opponent, the steam-roller candidate, appears to be roaming in the rear. Mr. Westerfield is making a winning race, but the steam-roller methods which put his opponent in the field are too well remembered for the voters to put their vote of approval on that sort of thing.

From the announcement of the way the Republican campaign started, one would have thought that the idea of a big distiller of liquor
being put at the head of a committee to solicit funds to elect Judge
O'Rear, was simply preposterous.
But the McCulloch letter soliciting
funds, signed by himself, explains
all. Judge O'Rear didn't try to "carry water on both shoulders." Oh, no! Just water on one shoulder and something stronger on the other.

Our neighbor, the Hartford Republican, issued a handsome illustrated industrial edition last week,
which was quite a credit to the shop and the county. The work was mainly in charge of Mr. James M. Ross, who did all the soliciting and writing and supervised the special issue. Mr. Ross is an expert in this line and an experienced newspaper man. He and his excellent little family have been in Hartford several weeks and have made many friends who will regret to see them leave.

With Gov. McCreary, A. O. Stanley, Ben Johnson and John Rhea as the principal speakers at the all-

day rally in Hartford on Thursday,
the 12th of this month, the people
who attend will sure have a "feast of reason and flow of soul." It is seldom that four such celebrities of oratory and eloquence are put before the people on one occasion. It is an opportunity that the people of this section will probably never have again, to see and hear these men, and should not be lost, if possible to be present. Come!

The more the Republican papers
try to explain that "McCulloch Letter," the worse they make it for their political Saint Edward, who started out as the very embodiment of every temperance and prohibition obligation and was later proven by this letter to be in league with that element of his party who are seeking to engage the liquor interests in behalf of Judge O'Rear.
The letter explains itself. No further explanation can rob it of what it really means. Nor will any Republican paper dare print it.

It has perhaps been noticed that the anonymous writer in the Hartford Republican who undertakes to reply to the article of "Fair Play"
in The Herald, in which the latter merely defended the honorable record of Gov. James B. McCreary, does not attempt to deny anything which "Fair Play" said. Nobody has denied nor few have disputed
Mr. C. E. Woods' temperance and prohibition ideas, but when he subverted these to a personal and unprovoked attack upon Gov. James B. McCreary, he found a friend of the latter worthy and ready to meet him upon any ground.

A great grand-stand play was made at the Republican State Convention when it was announced that Major E. S. Helburn, of Middleboro and Mayor of that little city,
was not acceptable to Judge O'Rear
as a running mate because of his supposed affiliation with the liquor interests. But in the meantime
Col. John McCulloch, of Owensboro, whose avowed and open connection
with the liquor business towers
high above that of Major Helburn,
was retained as one of the chief campaign managers to collect funds from recognized sources. Oh, Republican Consistency, thou art
indeed a peach of rare bloom!

The O'Rear journals are claiming that "the Republicans of Kentucky
have not sufficient campaign funds
to provide five-thousand-dollar free dinners and barbecues in order to draw a crowd." What a pity! And where has a "five-thousand-dollar"
barbecue yet been held in Kentucky? If these pitiful spellers will make inquiry they will find that these great Democratic gatherings are organized by the Democrats of the various counties, who are bearing the expense themselves. The Republicans have the same privilege. They might use some of the money Chairman McCulloch is collecting and give a fifty-thousand-dollar affair.

The Republican papers of the State—notably the one published at Hartford—have been decrying
the Goebel assassination matter, declaring it is an old subject and that it has no place in the discussions of
to-day. And yet the Hartford sheet, in a recent issue, in order to inflame the minds of the voters, revives this subject and quotes Gov.
McCreary as saying that the Republican party in Kentucky "is a party of assassination, and that it, as a party, procured the assassination of Mr. Goebel." When called upon for proof of this assertion, the Hartford Republican is silent. Now who is keeping the Goebel assassination
matter alive and who has prevari-
cated in the premises?

The Hartford Republican says:
Before Judge O'Rear became a candidate for Governor, the Democratic newspapers and members of the bar all over the State pronounced him one of the greatest and purest jurists the State has ever produced. Now that he has become a candidate for Governor and has been nominated by the Republican party, many of these same papers are denouncing him as dishonest and insincere. Why this change? Has the Judge changed or is it because he is standing in the way
of the political aspirations of someone?

You have guessed it right, brother. Walk up and get the prize. It's because the Judge has changed.
And most all the people know in what way. He's all right as an Appellate Judge. Let him stay there.

The Hartford Republican in a recent issue said:
Mr. McCreary says that the Republican party in Kentucky
is a party of assassination, and that it, as a party, procured the assassination of Mr. Goebel.
The Herald reproduced this bold
and plainly untrue assertion last week and challenged the Republi-

an to quote the exact language,
time and place of such utterance of
Gov. McCreary or by its silence acknowledge that it maliciously and intentionally falsified his language.
The last issue of the Republican was silent on this subject. Is there anything more needed to convict the Republican of falsifying its editorial
columns simply for political effect?

PROMISE WARM CONTEST IN SEVENTH DISTRICT

Greenville, Ky., Oct. 2.—The political pot in the Seventh Senatorial district, which is composed of the counties of Muhlenberg, Butler and Ohio, has begun to boil indu-triously. The Democratic nominee is Robert Hardison, Jr., of Greenville, and the Republican nominee is Commodore Holman, of Morgantown. It has recently developed that there is great dissatisfaction
among the Republicans of the entire district over Holman's nomination.
And especially is this true in his home county, where it is said,
his Republican brethren are deserting him.

Mr. Hardison will open his campaign at Morgantown, October 2,
and will then devote all his time to
a canvass of the entire district.

Strong candidates for the Legislature have been nominated in Ohio and Muhlenberg, and it is claimed both counties will show Democratic majorities. That Butler county will barely remain in the Republican column, and may even give a majority against Holman, is also claimed by the leaders in that county.

REAR ADMIRAL SCHLEY EXPIRES IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 2.—Rear Admiral Winfield S. Schley dropped dead to-day near the corner of Forty-fourth street and Fifth avenue
while on his way down town. The Admiral died before medical aid
could reach him.

Rear Admiral Schley had been out of town over Sunday and on his return here had gone to the New York Yacht Club on West Forty-fourth street. After a short stay at the club, Admiral Schley left the clubhouse and started to walk along Forty-fourth street toward Fifth avenue, when he was taken suddenly ill. A hurry call was sent for physicians and an ambulance, but before aid could reach him the Admiral was dead.

Dr. Miller, of Flower Hospital,
after a superficial examination of Admiral Schley, said that death was caused by apoplexy.

Child Escaped Poison.

The Calhoun Star says:
Olimore, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Epley, while playing in a smokehouse Tuesday morning, found and ate a piece of bread covered with rat poison,
which had been put there by members of the family. The act was immediately discovered and a physician was called who administered
the proper antidotes and soon had the child out of danger.

MORE CLUBS TO BOOST WILSON

For Democratic Nominee
for President.

TEXAS IS GOING IT STRONG

Chicago, Memphis and Pasadena Join Procession to Get in Line.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM MANIFEST

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—
Several important Wilson-for-President Clubs have been formed during the past week, according to information reaching the National Capital. One of the biggest is that organized by the Democrats of the Thirty-fifth Ward, Chicago, which also has for its object the booming
of former Mayor Edward F. Dunne
for Governor of Illinois. Among the leading spirits in the organization are W. H. Knolly, Knute Nelson, Wiley W. Mills, Gerald Barry, Harry McBride and George C. Sikes.
The club starts off with a large membership, and it is expected to grow rapidly. Also it is expected that as a result of the organization
of this club, others will be formed
in Chicago and other cities in Illinois.

A score or more prominent citizens of Pasadena, Cal., also got together and formed a Wilson-for-President Club. They plan to do much work in furthering the chances of Governor Wilson in California, and expect to be of much value in swinging the California
delegation for him in the Democratic National Convention. Among the members of the club and the leaders of the movement are: A.
C. Knight, Dr. Chas. Davis, Thomas
Lee, John Blake, William Delitt,
Silas Toms and Dr. Z. T. Mallaby.

Several of Governor Wilson's personal friends at Memphis, Tenn.,
are preparing to organize a club to further his candidacy for the Democratic nomination. The preliminary steps are now being taken, and the club will be in full running order in a few days. Col. William H.
Carroll, who spent some time in Europe recently, stopped to visit Governor Wilson on his return, and is one of his most enthusiastic admirers. Hubert F. Fisher is another warm personal friend of the Governor. The Memphis Commercial Appeal, speaking of the club idea in that city says: "Gov. Wilson has also a number of friends in union labor circles, and Dan Wolf, well known in the Typographical Union,
has arranged to present the matter
to a number of his union labor associates."

Pat O'Keefe has ordered 1,000
buttons for the Dallas Wilson Club.
The buttons will have a likeness of the Governor and the words "Dallas Society Club—Woodrow Wilson"
on them. The club idea continues to sweep Texas as no other State. New clubs are being formed or have been formed within the past week in half a dozen cities. Weatherford, Beaumont, Sweetwater and Waxahachie
are among the latest to join the procession. At Weatherford, J. M.
Richards is the moving spirit. At Sweetwater the club has for its president County Attorney George T. Wilson, and its secretary Superintendent of Schools M. B. Johnson. Among the members are County Judge Ford, Mayor Tharpe,
City Attorney McDugald, President
J. W. Overton, of the Commercial Club; Editor W. A. Perry, of the Reporter, and a majority of the members of the local bar. The members of the Beaumont club say
they expect to organize other clubs
at Port Arthur, Nederland and other towns in Jefferson county. Speaking of the organization, the Beaumont Journal says: "Friends and supporters of the New Jersey Chief Executive are plentiful in Beaumont and over the county, as is common over the entire State and nation, and it is believed that the Beaumont Woodrow Wilson Club
will be a large representative one,
as will be the other clubs to be formed in Jefferson county."

Missouri's first Woodrow-Wilson-
for-President club—at Kansas City
—has had the names of 150 Democrats added to the roll without solicitation. It is a volunteer movement in the strictest sense. According to the Kansas City Times it has not yet been decided whether to start an aggressive campaign for Wilson first, last and all the time,
or merely to pave the way for giving the New Jersey Governor Missouri's vote after it has been shown that Joseph W. Folk, the native son candidate, has no chance to win for himself.

MEMBERS ASK INCREASE IN THE TOBACCO PRICES

Will Demand $10, $7 and $4 for the Weed—Poolers Pass Resolution.

The Owensboro Messenger of Sunday says:

Probably one of the most important actions by any tobacco pooling organization in this section of the State since the organization of the pools was taken by the poolers of the Home Warehouse Company and the American Society of Equity of the Green River District, yesterday,
at their meeting at the court house.
The poolers passed a resolution, after selecting delegates to the district convention to be held in Owensboro, October 5, to demand that the prices received for their pooled
tobacco last year be raised one dollar on each class. The two associations sold their tobacco for $9, $6
and $3 last year.

According to reports received by the officers yesterday afternoon, the other meetings throughout the district were well attended. The meeting was presided over by Price Balrd, president of the Home Warehouse Company, with C. Smith acting as secretary. The following delegates to the district convention
were selected: R. C. Cashem, J. F.
Barr, C. Smith, Price Balrd and Finley Wall.

Similar meetings were held at Livia, Whitesville, Hawesville, Calhoun, Hartford and Reed's Station.

AN ERROR OF 700 VOTES MAY MAKE MAINE "DRY"

Augusta, Me., Sept. 30.—Applications for corrections in the returns
of the State election of September 11 from Limestone, Westfield, Athens and Matineus plantation, which,
if finally allowed, would change the
"yes" plurality of 26, as officially tabulated, to a plurality of 758
against the repeal of constitutional prohibition, were made yesterday at a meeting of the Governor and council. All the records were examined, but no action was taken.
It was voted, to receive applications for corrections from other towns up to and including October 9, when the council will be in session for the purpose of holding a hearing upon such applications.

injuries.

NEWSPAPER PLANT REDUCED TO ASHES

Greenville, Ky., Oct. 2.—Fire broke out in the office of the Muhlenberg Sentinel at 2 o'clock this morning and reduced that plant and its equipment to ashes. While fighting the flames A. Anderson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Charles Freeman, a carpenter, were knocked from a ladder by a stream
from a hose and badly injured.

The origin of the blaze is unknown. The loss is estimated at about $5,000. For the past week the Sentinel has been running a daily for the benefit of the Methodist Conference, which has been in session here.

DEATH WAS SUDDEN TO A MOST WORTHY WOMAN

Mrs. Lizzie Moore Ford, wife of Dr. E. W. Ford, died suddenly at her home on South Main street, Hartford, last Monday about one o'clock. She had just finished dinner and was reclining in an easy chair in the family room when suddenly her head drooped over to one side and she expired without a word or struggle. The members of her family, seeing something was wrong, supposed she had fainted and rushed to her side, but she never regained consciousness. She had been in poor health, but seemed much better of late. During the morning she was up and around the house as usual and had visited a neighbor. For some months past she had been a sufferer from Bright's disease and this, complicated with heart trouble, was the immediate cause of her death.

No awarer natured, better woman than Mrs. Ford ever lived in Hartford. Combined with her excellent qualities of mind and spirit was a fine christian character which made her loving and kind, and loved by all who knew her. She was exceptionally kind to old people, in fact to everybody, and testimony is written in heaven as to her goodness and graciousness here.

Mrs. Ford was about 40 years old at her death. Besides her husband she is survived by three children—Nancy Ellen, Edward and Ambie. She was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore, who live on North Union street, and her brothers are Messrs. Edward, John and Will Moore.

Funeral services were conducted at the Hartford Baptist Church, of which she had long been a member, yesterday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, by her pastor, Rev. J. W. Bruner. Interment was at Oakwood. A large crowd assembled to pay this last loving tribute to a truly good woman.

Robert Mullins was arrested at Jenkins and charged with violating the revenue laws. He was taken to the Whitesburg jail. No stills were destroyed.

Judge B. J. Bethune, at Somerset, passed formal sentence on Fount Helton for willful murder of A. J. Beatty, for which the jury gave him a life sentence, and ordered the Sheriff to take Helton to the penitentiary at once. Helton decided to take his sentence and not ask for a new trial. He will not be tried for the killing of Heath.

Walter Morgan lost control of a motorcycle while the streets were crowded at Owensboro and crashed over the curbing and through the plate glass window of a clothing store. The machine, which Morgan says ran away with him, was crushed like an eggshell, but Morgan was only slightly bruised. He grazed several persons as he sped across the pavement and into the plate glass.

Mistaking a can of gasoline for one which contained coal oil, Mrs. Bernard Wemper, of Hazen avenue, Bellevue, was fatally burned in the kitchen of her home when she attempted to start a fire with the fluid. She died in agony a few hours later. In attempting to smother the flames, Bernard Wemper, the husband, and a fifteen-year-old daughter were badly burned about the face and hands.

James G. Wheeler, son of Charles K. Wheeler, passed a creditable examination at Hopkinsville in Circuit Court on his application for a license to practice law and was granted admission to the bar by Judge Hanbery. His father, a native of Christian county, was, when a young man, admitted to the Hopkinsville bar, and his son, who recently reached his majority, desired to follow in his footsteps.

When the farmers of Kentucky settle with the sheriff, they will begin to realize what a Republican administration can do for them when it tries. "HE SOLD ME, SOLD MY SOUL

To a Chicago Millionaire
for Money,"

AVERS WIFE OF HER HUSBAND

Charges Made by Mrs. Patterson, Who Killed Husband at Denver.

DID HER HUSBAND'S BIDDING

Denver, Col., Sept. 28.—"My husband—that serpent whom I killed yesterday—repeatedly sold me—sold my body—to a Chicago millionaire. Once rich himself, Patterson resorted to the worst when he lost his money. He sold me on one occasion to that millionaire for $1,500. The purchaser took me to Europe and there we—well, I'll drop the curtain on what we did there. Do you wonder that I shot Patterson?"

GERTRUDE A. PATTERSON.

The defense of Gertrude A. Patterson, who yesterday shot and killed her husband, Charles Patterson, in the Phipps Sanatorium here, will be "temporary insanity, the climax of a long series of unspeakable brutalities."

"He spat in my face, struck and called me the vilest name a man can call a woman," she said to-night. She showed a bruise on her cheek, which, she said, resulted from her husband's blow.

"I have evidence in my husband's own handwriting that will undoubtedly clear me before a jury," declared Mrs. Patterson.

She said she went to see Patterson yesterday to get him to withdraw his suit against Emil Strouss. "This he agreed to do if I would sign over to him my Denver home and certain Chicago property," she said, "but I refused. That's how the quarrel started."

One of Mrs. Patterson's first acts after her arrest was to send an appeal for assistance to Emil W. Strouss, a Chicago millionaire, whom Patterson sued for alleged alienation of wife's affection. As a result Attorney John B. Reddin called on her last night, having been instructed by a Chicago legal firm to tender his services. But in the meantime Mrs. Patterson had engaged Attorney O. W. Hilton.

Mrs. Patterson told her hideous story without reservation to her attorney, concealing nothing concerning her relations with the Chicago man, and, at the same time, overlooking nothing which would serve to discredit the character of her husband.

According to Patterson's diary, found among his effects, he knew his wife was in Europe in January and February, 1909. During that time he kept a fragmentary diary. "January 23, 1909—My little baby. No matter whether it snows, rains or sunshines, I love you," and some of the entries read:

February 14 he wrote of his loneliness without his "Gertie" on St. Valentine's Day.

February 18 he noted: "Gee, it must be an awful long way from Europe. Seems like a million miles to me."

The entries show that Mrs. Patterson was abroad in January and February, 1909, and could not have left her husband in February on excuse of going to visit her family in St. Louis, as he alleged in his suit against Strouss.

"Three months after we were married," said Mrs. Patterson, "Charles Patterson sold me to go to a Chicago millionaire for $1,500. He told me he might take me where he pleased, that he might have me as long as he pleased and that the sum paid in cash was his compensation. Four weeks later, when the Chicago man and I were in Europe, Patterson wrote me that, unless I returned to him by first boat, he would follow me and kill me. He had spent the money then and he wanted me back that he might secure more. That was the life to which he led me. He sold me at a time when I did not know where my next meal was coming from.

"Three months after we were married my husband arranged with the Chicago millionaire to take me off his hands for as long a time as he cared to keep me. We went abroad at once.

"Our stay in Europe, especially at Paris, was just what you might expect that it was. Why go into details?"

Suit for $25,000 against Strouss was stricken off the records of the Superior Court at Chicago to-day. This action was caused by Attorney Perry S. Patterson, brother of the dead man, who had filed the suit.

"The death of my brother made this suit become void," he said.

RABBIT AS A MULTIPLIER

—THE MATTER TRIED OUT

"It is the old story in a new guise," said Senator Stone, at a Washington reception, apropos of a fresh outbreak against reciprocity on the part of the Paper Trust.

"Dished up very attractively," he continued, "it is an old story just the same. It reminds me of a yarn I heard the other day.

"A little boy, the yarn runs, heard his teacher lecture on natural history, and then, going straight home, he took one of his older brother's rabbits out of its hutch.

"He held the rabbit up by its ears, and said to it:

"Nine times eight?"

"The rabbit wriggled, showed the whites of its eyes, but made no answer.

"Seven times nine?" he continued.

"Another wriggle, and the rabbit's eyes rolled pathetically.

"Two times two?"

"Still no reply, and the little boy shook the rabbit impatiently and thrust it back into its hutch again.

"I knowed," he muttered, "that our teacher was wrong, sayin' rabbits was the greatest multipliers in the world."

Too Much For Elizabeth.

Little Elizabeth and her mother were having luncheon together, and the mother, who always tried to impress facts upon her young daughter, said:

"These little sardines, Elizabeth, are sometimes eaten by the larger fish."

Elizabeth gazed at the sardines in wonder, and then asked:

"But, mother, how do the large fish get the cans open?" [October Lippincott's.]

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

This Offer Should Be a Warning
to Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.

His misfortune serves as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach. The result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain missing elements, to help restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomachs, indigestion, and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

Three sizes—25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, James H. Williams, 214 Main street.

Three months after we were married my husband arranged with the Chicago millionaire to take me off his hands for as long a time as he cared to keep me. We went abroad at once.

"Our stay in Europe, especially at Paris, was just what you might expect that it was. Why go into details?"

Suit for $25,000 against Strouss was stricken off the records of the Superior Court at Chicago to-day. This action was caused by Attorney Perry S. Patterson, brother of the dead man, who had filed the suit.

"The death of my brother made this suit become void," he said.

BABES THAT GO AWAY.

All in a quiet moon of sleep sometimes they go away:

All little shadows up the hill and down the hill in gray,
To some strange land where only we have trust that they are sweet

They go away, they go away, but not on dancing feet!

Now if you wonder whither, oh, it clutches so the heart,
And here they are and there they are, and everywhere they are;

Half fluttering through a fevered night they close their little eyes,
And suddenly another rose has bloomed in Paradise!

Even though we waited for them long at bottom of the stair,
Or at the gate, or in the hall, or almost anywhere,

They would not come, they could not come, but oft in sleep we feel
Their little velvet hands again across our faces steal!

Oh, little babes that go away, just anyhow we'll wait,
And linger by the little stair and linger by the gate;

Perhaps some dusk and holy hour we'll see the little gray
And holy company of the babes—the babes that go away!

PENALTY WAS ASSESSED—
MUST ATTEND CHURCH

The Owensboro Inquirer says: Sam Thixton and Arnold Creacy, two white boys of about 18 years of age each, were arraigned before Judge Haskins on warrants charging them with disturbing religious worship. The boys were accused of disturbing the congregation at the Hall street Baptist church last Sunday while the pastor, Rev. J. C. Wyatt, was delivering his sermon.

A number of witnesses testified that the laughing and giggling of the boys, who were sitting in the rear of the church, disturbed the members who were occupying seats near the pulpit, and the pastor was forced to call attention to the conduct of some of those engaged in the disturbance. The boys admitted they did laugh during the services, but not to an extent to disturb anyone.

Judge Haskins, after reprimanding the boys for bad conduct in a house of worship, assessed a fine of $20 and costs, but suspended the penalty upon a promise from both Thixton and Creacy that for the next four Sunday nights they will attend services at the Hall street Baptist church, and conduct themselves as they should do in church.

Upon their failure to attend church, the pastor, Rev. J. C. Wyatt, is to notify the court, who will immediately issue a capias, and a fine of $20 and costs will either have to be paid or they will go to the workhouse. This declaration of the court was satisfactory to both the boys and the members of the church who were witnesses for the prosecution.

Averts Awful Tragedy.
Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis., R. No. 1, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by James H. Williams.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY
CERTAINLY HARMONIOUS

Before the Democratic Convention was held the Republican press dwelt on the lack of harmony in the ranks and contended that the factional fights which are incident to every race for a party nomination had so divided the Democracy that there would be no possible chance for them to get together and win a victory in November. This wish was father to the thought. The Republicans fondly felt that they could encourage ill feeling between Democrats and make a chasm so wide that their party would profit by it.

But bitter as the contests were for some of the State officers before the primary, the overwhelming majorities given the nominees, proved that the majority of the Democrats in the State had not only made up their minds to nominate this ticket, but elect it.

That they chose wisely is evident from the unanimous support given by the press of the State to the ticket headed by Governor McCreary. Every section is given representation, and each individual nominee is the strongest man that could be named for the place.

After the Convention, loyal Democrats accepted the platform adopted, even putting aside their personal preferences, and got into line for the ticket. Each day has only added to the party's strength. There is positive conviction in the minds of Kentucky Democrats that the State must not only go Democratic this year, but that the victory in November will have a tremendous influence upon the Presidential election to be held next year. They know how fatal it would be to Democratic success to have the Republicans capture this State on the eve of a National contest. With this great interest in the balance, McCreary men, Johnson men, Addams men and Head men have joined forces for the good of the party, regardless of their personal feelings or political ambitions.

And so it turns out that instead of the bitter factions predicted by the Republicans, we have Democratic harmony and unity for the first time in many years, with success absolutely assured.

NAMING A NEW TOWN
IN OLLIE JAMES' HONOR

Representative Ollie James of Kentucky, is one of the largest members, physically, of Congress. He stands six feet high and weighs almost as much as President Taft. His tremendously large head, with practically no hair on it, is a famous sight.

One of James' most intimate friends is Representative Thomas Hefflin of Alabama, another six-footer of large frame, who boasts of one of the heaviest crops of hair of any member of Congress. A few days ago Hefflin approached James and told him that he had just learned that a post-office in Arkansas had been named after the Kentucky member.

"Is that so?" James replied. "Well, well, I am certainly getting famous. Not long ago a friend of mine named a race horse after me, calling it 'Congressman James.' By the way, Hefflin, what did they call this town in Arkansas?"

"Bald Knob," Hefflin replied.

Amelie Rives' New Novel in Lippincott's.

The literary event of the month is doubtless the appearance of a powerful new novel by Amelie Rives (the Princess Troubetzkoy), published complete in the October Lippincott's. Its title is "Hidden House," and the scenes are laid in Virginia, as were those of the author's memorable first success, "The Quick or the Dead," which was also brought out in Lippincott's Magazine. It is not too much to expect that this new novel will create an even greater furor than did the earlier work, for it cannot be denied that to the Princess's former brilliancy and charm have been added a depth of feeling, a sureness of touch, and a keenness of insight into the human heart and its vagaries, which could come only with added maturity. The plot of "Hidden House" is absolutely unique, and in realism, in ardor, in fascination, the story is matchless. It will be interesting to compare its popularity with that of the former work, of which hundreds of thousands of copies have been sold.

The recent substantial increase in size of the magazine affords room for a greater number of short stories than heretofore. Those for October are a diversified lot, with plenty of action and a goodly proportion of humor.

PROSECUTION OF THE BEEF TRUST

Has Been Hanging Fire
Nearly a Decade.

AN OPEN VIOLATION OF LAW

Is Its Record—What People of Arizona Must Do to Get Statehood.

MUST SUBMIT TO COERCION

(By Clyde H. Tavenner.)
Washington, Sept. 30.—On the 10th day of May, 1902, the Government filed a petition for an injunction against the beef trust in the Federal Court at Chicago. On July 5, 1911, the packers, after having obtained forty-two delays and postponements in the intervening nine years, again pleaded not guilty, and for the forty-third time their trial was postponed, this time until November 7 of this year.

The status of the beef trust prosecution, therefore, is exactly where it was the day the first papers were filed nearly a decade ago. The much-heralded "prosecution" of this gigantic trust—a prosecution which has been directed by one Republican Attorney General after another—has amounted to less than nothing.

Every man, woman and child in the country is convinced that the trust operates in violation of the law, both statute and moral, and yet nothing has been accomplished in the alleged campaign to stop these violations except the disbursement of thousands of dollars in fees for special "trust busting" attorneys.

What the people of Arizona really have to do to obtain Statehood, is a story that the American people has never fully heard. Information has gone out over the wires from Washington that President Taft will permit Arizona to enter the Union by simply striking the recall of Judiciary provision from its constitution. But this is only part of the story.

Only when these facts are considered can the full significance of the President's action be grasped:

First. That the people of Arizona by a vote of three to one declared in favor of the recall.

Second. That in order to obtain Statehood the people of Arizona must go to the polls again and vote against a principle of government that they believe to be right.

By thus coercing the people to vote against a thing which their best judgment tells them to be right, threatening to withhold from these people rights which they are justly entitled to under the constitution unless they vote as the chief executive dictates, President Taft has committed himself to an action which is without a precedent in the history of the American republic.

Mr. Taft last said to the people of Arizona in effect: "No matter whether the majority believes that the recall of judges is wise or not, unless you go to the polls and pretend that you are against the recall, I will deprive you of Statehood. Yes, unless you vote against your honest convictions, I will withhold Statehood whether you are entitled to it under the constitution or not."

While this method of forcing the people to vote against their will may be compatible to the mental workings of an executive with a "judicial temperament," isn't it, after all, making a farce out of representative government?

After our command left Lost Mountain we next fortified at Marietta, but here Sherman made another move to Gen. Johnston's left and crossed the Chattahoochee river, which compelled Gen. Johnston to evacuate Marietta and take a position South of the river, which put our army within 8 miles of Atlanta. Here the saddest event of the war took place, Gen. Johnston had been superceded by Gen. John B. Hood. The soldiers had all confidence in Gen. Johnston and believed he would finally be successful, but now he was gone and it threw a chill over the entire army.

Hood took command of the army and fell back into the works around Atlanta. Sherman advanced his army within close range of our cannon and fortified, at the same time shelling the city and extending his lines further to the right as he advanced. He was there but a short time till he endeavored to turn Hood's right flank and gain possession of Decatur on the Georgia railroad.

Hood sent Gen. Hardee with his corps to meet him. We marched all night and at daylight came in contact with Gen. Sherman's pickets on Peachtree creek and here one of the most desperate battles of the war was fought. It was on the 22d day of July, 1864, and the weather was as hot as it ever gets in that country.

Gen. Hardee made a turn to his left and felt his way with the cavalry. When they struck the main line they moved to the right and the Orphan Brigade moved forward, together with 12 pieces of artillery and soon found the Federals in force. Our artillery opened on them, when we were ordered to fix bayonets and charge. We drove them back some distance across the creek. By this time the fight had begun all along the line. Sherman's left wing was thrown against our line in such great numbers that we were compelled to fall back across the creek, which ended the battle for that day.

Our company lost one of our best soldiers. Philip Snapps was killed and Lieut. J. W. Ford and S. W. Rowan were wounded.

Sherman failing to take Decatur, he next moved his line to Hood's left and took possession of East Point, which gave him possession of the railroad running to Mobile. After some fighting at Utog creek he made another move to get possession of the Macon railroad at Jonesboro. That town was 20 miles South of Atlanta and it was certain if he gained Jonesboro, Atlanta would have to be evacuated. So when Hood learned Sherman's object, he hurried Gen. Hardee's corps to Jonesboro. Our brigade arrived first and went to fortifying.

By the time Bates' division arrived the Federal army had arrived and began the battle. They opened on our brigade with their artillery. The balance of Hood's corps had arrived and was formed in line to our right. When the entire line moved forward, a desperate fight ensued. We drove them back about a mile, but could not hold our position and fell back to our works, when night put an end to the fighting. We worked all night strengthening our works to be ready for the coming day.

Now it was seen that most of Sherman's army was in our front and that the fight for Atlanta was going to be at Jonesboro and in order to meet the vast army in our front, we had to extend our line each way until we stood in single file, that is, one man to three feet. As both Generals knew that the destiny of Atlanta depended on this battle, every effort was made that could be made by both armies. It was plain from the maneuvering that the main attack would be made against Govans and the Orphan Brigade. The company officers of each company of the brigade laid by their swords and took guns. Lieut. Ford, of our company, obtained a 16-shooter with plenty of ammunition and told the boys he would be one of them in this fight.

The morning of the last day of August dawned and before the sun was scarcely above the tree tops, our skirmishers came in and reported their main line advancing. Our officers pled with the men to hold their fire until the enemy came close and then aim low. Their line advanced in beautiful order. The New York Zouaves were in front. They came at trail arms, without saving a word, and when within short range of our guns, Gen. Lewis gave the command to commence firing. Immediately 12 cannon, double charged with cannister, opened, together with every gun in the brigade.

They were in the jaws of death and could not come further. They fell back and spent the balance of the day skirmishing. The first day of September, Gen. Jeff C. Davis' fresh corps having arrived, he renewed the attack with great fury and each time met with a repulse till late in the evening, when they succeeded in breaking Gen. Govan's line. Those brave fellows stayed in their works till the Federals got in the works with them and it was only after they got out of ammunition that they were able to break Govan's line. They next turned on our brigade. The fighting now became terrific. Gen. Lewis saw that they had his men flanked and gave the order to retire from the work, but it was too late. Our regiment was next to Govan's Brigade and they succeeded in capturing about half of our regiment. J. W. Ford and about half of our company escaped with the colors of the regiment. They made a general rush and Lieut. J. W. Ford found some gunners with a cannon trying to get away. Jim ordered the men to load the gun with cannister, which they did, and fired, and that gun ended the battle, as they did not come any further.

DEATH IN A FLASH—

WORK OF LIGHTNING

One Man Killed, Two Injured—
Team of Horses Was Also Killed.

The Owensboro Inquirer says: Tom Sallee, a well known farmer, who resided on the Oglesby hill, between Panther and Moseleyville, was instantly killed about 7 o'clock Friday morning as the result of lightning, which struck the barn of C. J. Moseley, and at the same time badly injured Ben Crabtree and his twelve-year-old boy, Evans Crabtree, and also killed two horses hitched to a wagon loaded with tobacco.

Mr. Ben Crabtree is a tenant on Mr. Moseley's farm, and was engaged in housing his tobacco. He was being assisted by his sons, Shelby, Evans, and Dave Crabtree, and Tom Sallee. They had driven a load of tobacco into the barn, and were at work placing it on the tiers when the barn was struck by lightning. It was raining at the time, and a dark cloud hung over that neighborhood, but there was no indication or evidence of any electrical storm, when suddenly there was a blinding flash of lightning, and a crash of thunder that frightened the citizens in that vicinity. Mr. Sallee was on the third tier handling the tobacco to Shelby Crabtree, who was in the top of the barn. At the flash of the lightning Sallee fell to the ground, a distance of eighteen feet. He was given assistance as soon as possible, and it was seen that life was extinct. There was not a blemish or any burn on Sallee's body, but when picked up, blood was coming from his left ear. His neck was broken, which was thought to have been the result of the fall, as Sallee fell on his head.

Ben Crabtree and his son, Evans, who were on the wagon, were also injured as the result of the shock. The trousers on the left leg of the old man, as well as his shoes, were torn from his body and foot, and he was badly burned on the left hand and leg. Mr. Crabtree cannot use his left limb, and it is feared that it has been paralyzed as the result of the shock. Young Evans Crabtree also received a severe burn on the neck and arms.

Strange to say, the barn was not destroyed by fire, and suffered very little damage. There were two large posts uprooted, and three or four holes torn in the roof. Shelby Crabtree, who was only a few feet away from Sallee at the time he was killed, escaped without any injury whatever.

Tom Sallee was a married man, and resided on the John Nation farm. He was 41 years of age, and is survived by a wife and six children.

IN THIS LAND OF LIBERTY.

The Sunny South is smirched in shame.

And peony tells the knell,
For departed hopes in yeomanry life
Have bidden a last farewell.

The vine-clad hills of tyranny rise
Where the blessings of liberty grew,
And the loving face of dear Uncle Sam
Smiles now on the favored few.

What power defiled his grace and love,
What made him hard-hearted and cold?
Was it the stench of the squalid poor
Or the gild of the shining gold?

Who scattered thorns in the lowly path
That the humble toiler trod?
Who'll bear the cross for the brutal crime
At the judgment bar of God?

We've lived in political bondage
For lo! these many years.
While the sweat of the brow has mingled
With the flow of unbidden tears.

We've feasted on pledges and promises,
We've dreamed of a tariff low,
But woke in the land of deception,
Where favored monopolies grow.

We've seen the rights of the poor man trod,
And defiance flung in his face;
We've heard the walls of poverty sound
In the bosom of his disgrace.

The finger of scorn has pointed him out
As a man of low degree,
Because he was robbed by kings and law
In this land of liberty.

But alas! the surging tide has changed,
And the muttering throng comes now
In the Sovereign rights of America's flag,
With this redeeming vow:

We now absolve allegiance
From our political foe,
And will vote for the men and measures
That will give us a tariff low.

We want to buy from old England
Whatever is cheap that we need,
And undo the ties of protection
That were tied for the palates of greed.

While beating the turbulent waters
And watching its virulent foam,
We would humbly ask that our taxes
Be less than what's left us at home.

More Than Enough Is Too Much.

To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach trouble, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by all dealers.

HE ASKS $1,000 FOR WRONG TOOTH PULLED

Covington, Ky., Oct. 2.—Appointment of William Macke to the Circuit Court clerkship of Kenton county was made to-day by Circuit Judges Tracey and M. L. Harbeson. Young Macke takes up the work of this office through the death last week of his father, Bernhard Macke, Sr. The first suit under the new clerk was filed by Harry Shusterman against Dr. H. B. Huffman, dentist, for $1,000 damages. The petition alleges the defendant pulled a wrong tooth on June 20.

Billiousness is due to a disordered condition of the stomach. Chamberlain's Tablets are essentially a stomach medicine, intended especially to act on that organ; to cleanse it, strengthen it, tone and invigorate it, to regulate the liver and to banish billiousness positively and effectually. For sale by all dealers.

DEMOCRACY IS IN FINE SHAPE

Everywhere, Says Secretary to Norman Mack.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO

Will Vote for First Time This Year—Democratic Prospect is Good.

KENTUCKY IS BEING WATCHED

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 1.—James W. Reilly, of Buffalo, N. Y., political secretary to Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was in Owensboro to-day to see Urey Woodson, Secretary of the Committee.

"I came to Owensboro in order to take up a number of important matters on behalf of Chairman Mack with Secretary Woodson," said Mr. Reilly. "Chairman Mack could not come to Owensboro at this time to take these matters up with Secretary Woodson, so I have come instead."

"The National Committee is greatly interested in the coming election in Arizona and New Mexico, being the first elections in these new States where both the Democratic and Republican parties are contending for supremacy. It seems to be agreed that Arizona will surely go Democratic, while there also seems to be a good chance of the Democrats carrying New Mexico. Each of the new States will have two United States Senators and if the Democrats can gain all four of those new seats in the United States Senate, it will be a big and important acquisition. The Republicans are also paying great attention to what is going on in the new States."

"They have hundreds of Federal office-holders spread through both of them and they are now moving both heaven and earth in an effort to save the new States for the G. O. P., chiefly that they may perpetuate themselves in the sinecures which they have held for years."

"In both the new States Democracy is well organized under competent leadership and our party leaders are confident that Arizona and New Mexico, despite the great influence of the Republican Federal officeholders, will line up solidly with Democracy in the coming election."

Mr. Reilly has just completed a several weeks' tour of the Southern States; all of the Atlantic Coast States, from Maine to Florida, and about all of the middle Western States, on behalf of Chairman Mack and the Democratic national organization, and he said that Democrats are jubilant everywhere and that they are supremely confident that their party will be successful in next year's national campaign.

"Our party is rich in good men and I could mention you a half dozen Democrats of prominence, whose names are on the public tongue just now in connection with the Democratic Presidential nomination, any one of whom would make the party an excellent candidate," said Mr. Reilly.

In connection with the Kentucky campaign Mr. Reilly said that it was being watched with great interest in the North, more particularly because of the fact that the Democratic candidates for Governor and United States Senator, Messrs. McCreary and James, are well and favorably known to Democrats everywhere and are generally looked upon as thoroughly representative men who will help to bring Kentucky back into its own as regards Democratic prestige and statesmanship.

A DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC CAUSES CLOSING SCHOOL

Nicholasville, Ky., Oct. 2.—The graded school was closed to-day for the week on account of a diphtheria epidemic. There were several cases last week and when two new ones were reported this morning, the Board of Education thought it best to close the school. The physicians do not apprehend a general spread of the disease.
